This book outlines the life and career of Sandra Day O'Connor, the first female Supreme Court justice. As a judge on the Arizona Court of Appeals, she stood up to corrupt lawyers and humanized the law. When she arrived at the United States Supreme Court, appointed by President Ronald Reagan in 1981, she began a quarter-century tenure on the Court, hearing cases that ultimately shaped American law. Diagnosed with cancer at fifty-eight, and caring for a husband with Alzheimer's, O'Connor endured every difficulty with grit and poise. Her story is that of a woman who repeatedly shattered glass ceilings—with a blend of grace, wisdom, humor, understatement, and toughness. (Source: Publisher's website)

The economy uncertain, education in decline, cities under siege, crime and poverty spiraling upward, international relations roiling: we look to leaders for solutions, and when they don't deliver, we simply add their failure to our list of woes. In doing so, we do them and ourselves a grave disservice. We are indeed facing an unprecedented crisis of leadership, Ronald Heifetz avows, but it stems as much from our demands and expectations as from any leader's inability to meet them. His book gets at both of these problems, offering a practical approach to leadership for those who lead as well as those who look to them for answers. (Source: Publisher's website)

Leadership on the line : staying alive through the dangers of change / Ronald A. Heifetz and Marty Linsky. – Boston, Mass. : Harvard Business Press, 2017.

ISBN 978-1-63369-283-1 (hbk.)

Loc: Main Library

To lead is to live dangerously. Although it may be exciting to think of leadership as inspiration, decisive action, and powerful rewards, leading requires taking risks that can jeopardize your career and your personal life. It often requires putting yourself on the line, disturbing the status quo, and surfacing hidden conflict. And when people resist and push back, there's a strong temptation to play it safe. Those who choose to lead forge ahead, face the danger, and - too often - get burned.

It doesn't have to be that way, say renowned leadership authorities Ronald Heifetz and Marty Linsky. They show how it's possible to make a difference without getting "taken out" or pushed aside. (Source: Publisher's website)
